AGREEMENT TO PRE-DISMISSAL ARBITRATION

Section 188A, of the Labour Relations Act 66 of 1995 determines as follows:

An employer may, with the consent of the employee, request a council, an accredited agency or the Commission to conduct an arbitration into allegations about the conduct or capacity of that employee.

The pre-dismissal arbitration concept and the consequences of agreeing to such a process was explained to me and I understand the principle and possible consequences thereof.

I, John Employee, hereby give my consent that the employer (Employer) may proceed with a pre-dismissal arbitration as per the Notice to Attend a Disciplinary Enquiry and charge sheet dated 12 August 2013, which was served on me on 15 August 2013, on condition that I may be represented by a legal practitioner of my choice.

MANAGER'S NAME MANAGER'S POSITION

Dear MANAGER'S NAME,

First paragraph

In this paragraph, state how long you have been working with the company, how you have enjoyed your time here, and how much you have learnt from your superior. Remember to be warm and friendly but not to the extent of being overly saccharine sweet.

Second paragraph onwards

This paragraph explains to your manager why you feel the time is right for a promotion or increment. Points to include here are:

- Examples of how you have contributed to the company.
- Reasons why you deserve the promotion.
- How your request will benefit the company.

Final paragraph

In the final paragraph, highlight your desire to discuss in person your promotion and increment prospects. Remember to include how appreciative you are of the opportunities that have been given to you in the company so far.

FamilyByDesign Co-Parenting Agreement Template

A Co-Parenting Agreement can be a wonderful tool for encouraging prospective and current coparents to have a detailed, meaningful, honest dialogue about their mutual desires, interests, and goals as co-parents. It can also be a great tool for uncovering issues that the co-parents have not even thought about!

FamilyByDesign strongly believes that you should not simply adopt a co-parenting agreement that you may find online or receive from a friend – it is essential that the co-parents talk through the many potential issues on their own and come up with their own unique, customized coparenting agreement. Nevertheless, a template for some of the items you may wish to discuss and include in your agreement can be a very helpful starting point.

With this in mind, FamilyByDesign has crafted the following Co-Parenting Agreement Template to help you get started. While we don't provide the actual language for each of the sections to be covered, we raise the main issues that you and your co-parent(s) should consider as you draft this agreement for your personal situation. Some of these issues may not apply to your particular situation and should not be included; conversely, you may have other unique issues not listed here that you may wish to include in your Co-Parenting Agreement. We are providing this template for informational purposes only and it is not to be construed as advice for your particular circumstances.

We hope you find this Co-Parenting Agreement Template useful!

Best Wishes, The FamilyByDesign Team
