Gods of olympus game parents guide

The Greeks believed that gods and goddesses watched over them. These gods were a bit like humans, but they lived forever and were much more powerful. They felt human emotions, such as love, anger and jealousy, and did not always behave. The Greeks thought that the gods lived on top of Mount Olympus, in a palace in the clouds. From here, they kept an eye on the life below. From time to time, they interfered with what was going on. They could send storms if they were angry and decide who was victorious in wars. Sometimes they even played tricks on humans too. Each god and goddess had power over a different aspect of life or the world. Click below to know a little more about them. The Greeks built temples to their gods and goddesses. Some temples were small, while others were very large and beautiful with incredible decorations. Every city in Greece had a god or goddess ápatronáá. People believed that the patron gods protected them from harm. When people needed help from the gods, they would go to the temple to pray. They could go if they felt sick, were on a trip or worried about the harvest on the farm. To please the gods, people brought gifts of money, flowers, food and drink. They offered these gifts as sacrifices. Animals, like cattle, were sometimes slaughtered. Then people reveled in the roasted meat. The most famous temple in Greece was the Parthenon of Athens. Inside was a giant statue of Athena, the patron goddess of the city. Argo the dog has disappeared! He was last seen inside a magnificent temple. Play the game to make a sacred offering to the gods and goddesses. There are many more mini-games and puzzles about life in Ancient Greece. Escape from the Minotaur's maze and defeat the terrifying Medusa. Only Argo is found! The Greeks loved to share stories about brave heroes and their great adventures. Everyone's favorite hero was Heracles. Romans called him). Herracles was Zeus's son. He was so strong that he could kill a lion with him his hands. He also sailed with Jason and the Argonauts to find the Golden Fleece and performed 12 "impossible" tasks. Heracles was very brave, but he was killed when he was cheated to put a poisoned robe. However, Zeus liked heracles so much that he took him to Mount Olympus and made him immortal. One of the 12 legendary Tasks of Heracles was to defeat stylian birds. These metal birds eat men were the pets of God Ares. Look at the video below to know how another famous Greek HÁ © Roe, Perseus, killed a monster called Medusa. Medusa was a gorgon, she had poisonous snakes instead of hair and she could turn the people to stone just watching. The Greeks believed that the dead went to the underworld. This was an underground kingdom governed by the god Hades. To get to the underworld, the dead souls had to cross the Styx river. A grunt named Charon would take them through, but he only paid him. So the Greeks would place a coin in the mouth of a dead person at the funerals, to make sure they could pay the fee. After crossing the Ráo Styx, three judges decided where the dead should pass eternity. If they had been really good, they were sent to live happy forever in the Elése fields. If they had been well, they were sent to the Asphodel meadows. But if they had been very bad, they ended up in Tartarus. It was a horrible hole where his soul was tortured for all eternity. The entrance to the underworld was guarded by a three-headed dog named Cerberus. Greeks the patron goddess of Rome. The gods are a race of immortal divine beings who control the forces of nature and rule large portions of the Earth. Most gods are described as part of a family or Pantheon, and depend on their mortal devotees for worship. Although the word "god" may be gender neutral and apply to women, men, or fluid/non-binary gender, gender-specific terms for a man would be known as "god", while a woman would be called a "goddess."
