The IELTS listening section is a challenging test that requires candidates to listen carefully and understand the conversations or monologues presented to them. The test consists of four sections, each with 10 questions, making a total of 40 questions. Candidates will have to listen to four recordings, which can be a conversation between native speakers of English, and they need to answer questions based on the content of the recordings. Each recording will only be heard once, so it is essential for candidates to pay close attention to detail. The test types in the Type of Job Required Listening Answers passage are Notes Completion, Table Completion, and Form Completion. For Notes Completion, candidates have to read the entire passage, take notes, and fill in the blanks with the correct words. This type of task assesses a candidate's ability to read details/main ideas and write them at the appropriate place. Table Completion requires candidates to summarize information related to categories given in the table while carefully following instructions. Form Completion involves completing missing details on a form based on what is heard. This task tests a candidate's ability to listen for specific information like names, dates, and other real-world scenarios. To answer these types of questions accurately, it is crucial for candidates to take care of synonyms and paraphrasing, note down essential points, and practice beforehand to avoid common mistakes such as not following instructions carefully or losing focus during the exam. The IELTS self-help kit offers valuable resources to prepare effectively for this section. To enhance your IELTS listening skills, engage with various audio materials and practice exercises. Listen attentively to recordings showcasing diverse accents, such as the 'Host Family Applicant' audio. Complete the notes on job requirements and answer questions accurately. Job Enquiry Complete the following: 1 Duty: provide 2 service 3 Requirement: receive 4 without pay 5 Requirements: clean and valid license 6 Working hours: 17.30-22.30 ##ARTICLE Hi there, welcome to the centre, how can I assist you with finding employment today? I'm here to enquire as to whether you have any jobs available at present. Manager: Yes, we do have several positions available. What type of job are you looking for today? Lauren: Well, um, I'll take any part-time opportunities that come my way. At the moment, I'm really in need of some extra cash. Lauren: Receptionist, cashier or driving jobs would be suitable. I Manager: Okay, let me just check our system while I have a look. Manager: [pause] We have three vacancies currently available. The first one is for a receptionist role. It's an entry-level position, and you won't need much experience in this field. Have you worked as a receptionist before? Lauren: No, I don't have the chance to do so. I took care of my baby very young and haven't had any job opportunities yet. Can you provide some more details about the role? Manager: Yes, of course. This position involves providing excellent customer service over the phone and in person. When customers are waiting for their services, they will be provided with refreshments and given a top-notch experience. Lauren: That sounds manageable. As I'm a friendly person, I think I could do this job. What are the working hours like? Manager: You'll need to work early mornings on four days per week, plus one extra day when needed in advance. Manager also requests that you go through some unpaid training before qualifying for the role. Lauren: That's a bit concerning. I'm not sure if I can fully commit to it. Are there any other roles available? Manager: Yes, we have an advertisement for a driver. You'll need a valid UK driving licence and at least six years of experience with no points. Lauren: No worries there. I passed my test first time and never received any fines. Manager: It also states that the employer is looking for someone who can be flexible and work within their personal schedule. The working hours are flexible, but they require you to work either mornings five days a week or evenings five days a week, or three full working days per week. Lauren: I'm confident in my ability to handle this job. What other details would the employer like me to know? Manager: As well as driving them around, they also need you to perform various tasks such as grocery shopping and picking up their kids from school. Lauren: Do they want me to work on weekends too? Manager: No, they only require weekdays. Lauren: Alright, that sounds interesting. Manager: The last job is for a cashier in a local cinema. It involves working short hours between 17:30 and 22:30 most nights, with slightly longer shifts on Fridays and Saturdays. Lauren: What's the job entail? Manager: You'll need to sell tickets, provide refreshments, and be quick on the computer since you'll also take bookings over the phone. They will train you in this regard. Manager: It's short hours, but it might not be suitable for everyone. Lauren: I think I'd like to know more about it.
