The Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan (Urdu: $\tilde{A} \sim \hat{a} \notin \tilde{A} \sim | \tilde{A}^{m} \tilde{A}^{m} \hat{A}^{m} \hat$ from opposition parties of the country, was approved by Parliament on 10 April and ratified on 14 August 1973. [2] The Constitution is intended to drive the law of Pakistan, his political culture, and the system. It identifies the State (its physical existence and its borders), people and their fundamental rights, of the state of constitutional law and orders, and also the constitutional structure and creation of the institutions and armed forces of the country. [3] The first three chapters establish the rules, the mandate and separate powers of the country. system led by Federal apex Supreme Court. [3] The Constitution designates the President of Pakistan as a Ceremonial Chief of State, which is to represent the Unit of the State. [4] The first six articles of the Constitution also encapsulates provisions that establish the compliance of the legal system with Islamic injunctions contained in the Koran and in the Sunnah. [6] Parliament cannot make the laws that could be repugnant or contrary to the Constitution, but the same Constitution can be modified by a two-thirds majority in both rooms of the bicameral parliament, unlike previous legal documents from 1956 and of the 1962. [7] It has been amended over time, and most of the recent impulses for policy updates and reforms has been modified. Although applied in 1956a annually as Republic Day. [8] Technically there are 26 amendments, but 23 amendments were carried out in the Constitution and three were not approved by Parliament. Origins and historical background in a radio speech addressed to the Pakistan Constitution-to-Be as follows: the Constitution of Pakistan still has to be framed by the Constituent of Pakistan, I don't know what the final form of the Constitution is going to be, but I am sure that they will be a democratic type, which incorporates the fundamental principles of Islam. Today these are applicable in real life as these were 1300 years ago. Islam and her idealism taught us democracy. He taught the equality of man, justice and fair play to all. We are the heirs of these glorious traditions and we are fully alive our responsibilities and mandlists of the future Constitution of Pakistan. [9] Pakistan was founded in 1947 as Dominion (an independent kingdom) within the British Commonwealth. The same is true in India India. During his early years of the British monarch he was also head of Pakistan's state, as is still the In Canada, Australia, etc. Before writing a constitution, a constitution, a constitution, a constitution, a constitution objectives, on the insistence of the Ulama and Jamaat- e-Islam, March 1949 to define the basic directive principles of the new state and to declare it Recognition of Allah's superinity on the universe. The resolution of the objectives has affirmed the role of democracy and contained religious provisions to allow the company to adhere to the teachings of the subsequent constitutions of Pakistan [10]. The country became a republic when its first constitution was approved in 1956, but this was repealed in 1958. He granted the executive power to the President and abolished the office of the Prime Minister. It has also institutionalized the intervention of the military in politics by providing that for twenty years, the President or the Minister of Defense must be a person who had held a lower degree than that of the General Lieutenant in the army. [12] The establishment of 1962 was suspended in 1969 and repealed in 1972. [11] The establishment of 1973 was the first in Pakistan to be framed by elected representatives. Unlike the establishment of 1962, he gave Pakistan a parliamentary democracy with the concentrated executive power in the Prime Minister's Office, and the Formal State State State and the Prime Minister's Office, and the Prime laws must comply with the injunction of Islam as established in the Sunnah. [6] The establishment of 1973 has also created some institutions such as the Shariat Court and the Council of Islamic Ideology to channel the interpretation of Islam. Abiazia until it was "restored" in 1985 but with an amendment (the eighth) moving the power of the Parliament and President Prime Minister. Another amendment (seventeenth) in 2004 continued this change, but in 2010, the eighteenth amendment reduced presidential powers, making the government to one Parliamentary republic.
